Living in the World (Part 5)

Your life represents just one of the billions of people on our planet, but do not underestimate the role you can play in making an impact for the cause of Christ. When you are passionate about your calling to live for Christ, God blesses!

Living on Mission

We are here on earth for a reason. God has placed us around so many people, not just to meet unique individuals and make friends, but to share with them the life changing story of what God has done through Christ. When we fail to share the good news of the gospel, we miss opportunities to give people the same hope, peace and joy we have. This is the mission Jesus Christ Himself has given us (Matt. 28:19-20).

Living a Life of Impact

In order to be sold out for Christ, we must not only know our calling to represent Christ well, but we must also be willing to actively do it! Being on mission for Christ is not just a game plan, it is a willful decision to take intentional steps to be used by God in practical ways. Showing compassion, kindness and love through acts of service will open doors to share the gospel. And when the gospel is shared, the power of God can work in the hearts of those who hear (Rom. 1:16).

Our study has examined some of the many challenges and opportunities that living in the world brings. May we commit to living our lives for the glory of God! May we live in a way that allows people to see Christ living through us (Gal. 2:20)
